

Cepsa is now offering its loyal customers fuel prices from 2021

- Private customers can access savings of up to 45 cents per liter by adding the 30-cent discount applied since April 1 to the 10% savings they get with the company's loyalty programs
- This means Cepsa's loyal customers can refuel at a price similar to that of April 2021 for gasoline 95 and last October for diesel A
- For customers not in the loyalty program, Cepsa offers a universal discount of 5 cents, in addition to the government subsidy, for a total savings of 25 cents per liter

Cepsa has worked to ensure that a good portion of its customers can fill up their tank with fuel prices similar to those seen in 2021, prior to the rise in costs brought on by the conflict in Ukraine. Following an increase of more than 30% since the beginning of 2022, the price per liter of gasoline 95 and diesel rose above 2.00 euros at some points of sale during the month of March. When adding the government subsidy (20 cents) to the company's loyalty programs, customers can access savings of up to 45 cents, which as of today, April 13, would mean a 25% discount on the average price of fuel at all Cepsa service stations in Spain.

Thanks to these measures, put in place to deal with the exceptional international energy price situation, private loyal customers obtain a discount of up to 16 euros for a conventional refueling of 35 liters, bringing prices closer to those of a year ago for gasoline 95 (€1.356/L) and last October for diesel A (€1.375/L).

Since April 1, members of the company's 'Porque Tú Vuelves' program enjoy a discount of 30 cents per liter (20 cents corresponding to the subsidy approved by the Government of Spain plus an additional 10 cents offered by the company), directly, without conditioning it upon future refueling or any particular app. If they also use the Cepsa card or the Club Carrefour card, they get an additional 10% discount, which translates into 45 cents per liter.

Any private customer can join the 'Porque Tú Vuelves' program simply, immediately, and free of charge through the company's website or at a point of sale when refueling. The program currently has more than 1.5 million users.

Couriers using Cepsa's professional cards benefit from savings of up to 30 cents per liter, in addition to current commercial discounts.

NOTA DE PRENSA

Private and professional customers who do not use the 'Porque Tú Vuelves' program or the professional cards also obtain a discount beyond the subsidy put in place by the Government. Specifically, these users benefit from a discount of an additional 5 cents for a savings of 25 cents per liter.

The special discounts, which came into effect on April 1 and will remain in force until June 30, are not conditioned upon future refueling and are available for any type of fuel (gasoline, diesel, natural gas vehicles and liquefied gas) in the entire network of Cepsa service stations, which has 1,500 establishments in Spain.

Cepsa is a leading international company committed to sustainable mobility and energy with a solid technical experience after more than 90 years of activity. The company also has a world-leading chemicals business with increasingly sustainable operations.

In 2022, Cepsa presented its new strategic plan for 2030, Positive Motion, which projects its ambition to be a leader in sustainable mobility, biofuels, and green hydrogen in Spain and Portugal, and to become a benchmark in the energy transition. The company places customers at the heart of its business and will work with them to help them advance their decarbonization goals.

ESG criteria inspire everything Cepsa does as it advances toward its Net Positive objective. This decade, it will reduce its Scope 1 and 2 CO2 emissions by 55 percent and its Scope 3 emissions by 15 to 20 percent, with the goal of reaching net zero emissions by 2050.
